

China To Rival Detroit With New Facility!

Score One Inc. (SREA)

$0.15 UP 7%

SREA is set to build an international center to showcase China's $68 Billion automobile and parts industry. This will provide a new state of the art facility for the market to turn to.

Act fast and get on SREA first thing Thursday!

Autism can be difficult to diagnose as it is a complex condition and symptoms are variable.

The eye is not taken out of the socket.

The main features are an overwhelming feeling of fatigue that follows any form of physical exertion along with problems involving memory and concentration.

The best way to keep it healthy is to try to maintain this shape as much as possible.

Spilt hot drinks cause most scalds.

With normal ageing, the lens hardens and becomes cloudy.

There is no cure for COPD.

These can include tapping parts of the body, rocking, teeth grinding and repetitive grunting.

The first step, known as Phase I, is to check that the treatment is safe.

The drugs used to treat cancer are among the most powerful, and most toxic, chemicals used in medicine.

Are there any complications?

This can often occur after strenuous activity, or can be a reaction to repetitive strain.

Campaigners claim the drug is useful in treating depression and other mood disorders.

Environmental factors, such as contact with certain chemicals including solvents, pesticides, oil products and rubber, can increase the risk.

The virus can cause illness and death in humans, but the chances of being infected are extremely low.

As a result there are changes in various hormones and brain chemical transmitters, as well as control mechanisms in the brain which regulate sleep, activity, temperature control, and blood pressure.

A person with severe COPD may become so breathless that they are no longer able to carry out normal daily activities such as walking.

abscesses and intestinal bleeding linked to rupture of the bowel.

These include anaemia, coeliac disease, liver disease, lupus, low thyroid function, and multiple sclerosis.

The lens sits inside the eye, behind the coloured iris.

But homeopathic medicines are diluted to a high degree.

What are the symptoms?

However, some of the deeper skin is left undamaged.

What causes back pain?

Physiotherapy, heat therapy, massage and hydrotherapy can help.

Keeping fit and healthy by taking regular exercise and maintaining a healthy weight can also help.

What is Coeliac Disease?

This can be extremely painful, and can lead to muscle tears if undue stress is exerted.

There is strong scientific evidence that some, such as acupuncture, work.

It is never too late to stop smoking and it will benefit even those with advanced COPD.

Is it linked to any other condition?

This depends on whether the tumour is a primary brain tumour, meaning it originates in the brain, or a metastatic brain tumour, which means it starts elsewhere in the body.

As the name suggests, the main problem is airway obstruction.

Biliary atresia is caused when the bile duct to the liver becomes inflamed.

People with the disorder are also at heightened risk of the brittle bone disease osteoporosis.

The major feature is the spine.

Benign tumours grow slowly and rarely spread.

However, no research has ever proved a link, and the overwhelming majority of experts believe the vaccine is safe.

Operations to cure the condition are most successful in children under eight weeks old.

These injuries can be life-threatening.

While certain age groups are more at risk, other factors can influence if people will develop brain cancer.

Some symptoms depend on where the tumour is on the brain.

The lens can be removed and replaced with a clear plastic lens by making a small cut in the eye that does not usually require stitching afterwards.

Bright sunshine and lights might dazzle - some see haloes around lights.

The skin will be charred, leathery and pale and there will be no sensation of pain.

Physiotherapy, heat therapy, massage and hydrotherapy can help.

Fifty such services are now in the process of opening or are being developed.

This depends on whether the tumour is a primary brain tumour, meaning it originates in the brain, or a metastatic brain tumour, which means it starts elsewhere in the body.

Problems with mental ability such as memory, speech and concentration can occur, and more severe mental changes affecting behaviour, temperament and intellectual ability also affect patients.

And wide-scale trials testing the safety and efficacy of cannabis extracts are currently underway in the UK and elsewhere.

Spending long stretches of time sitting in one position - often with the back not properly supported - is not good for the spine.

The major feature is the spine.

abscesses and intestinal bleeding linked to rupture of the bowel.

To further reduce the risk of bias - when incorrect conclusions are drawn due to prejudices - the participants can be allocated at random to the two treatments being compared.

The first step, known as Phase I, is to check that the treatment is safe.

Problems with mental ability such as memory, speech and concentration can occur, and more severe mental changes affecting behaviour, temperament and intellectual ability also affect patients.

In extreme cases the damage will go beyond the skin and involve the underlying structures such as subcutaneous fat, muscle and bone.

The cause of the disease is unknown, but it is suspected that viruses and bacteria could play a part.

It wants to see the development of "targeted medicines" using cannabinoids.

Campaigners claim the drug is useful in treating depression and other mood disorders.

Aromatherapy: The use of essential oils in treatments to improve physical and emotional well being, relieve pain and alleviate tension and fatigue.

They can be added to a bath, massaged through the skin, inhaled directly, used w ith teas, or scented in a room.

Antibiotics can reduce the amount of diarrhoea.

Cooking practices need to be made as safe as possible - where practicable, food needs to be cooked thoroughly and eaten while hot, and raw fruit and vegetables avoided unless they are peeled first.

Women with untreated gluten sensitivity can experience infertility, but this is restored when they stop eating gluten.

So the initial medical assessment must always include a wide range of blood tests to exclude other possible causes of persisting fatigue.

Those who needed glasses before the operation may still need them afterwards because the surgery only corrects the cataract.

Before treatments can be tested on humans, they will have already undergone extensive investigation in the laboratory and testing on animals.

This new lens will remain in the eye for good and should correct the eyesight.

It is only rarely spread by person-to-person contact.

Treatments only move into a Phase III trial if phases I and II have been successful.

This involves using a loop of bowel to form a duct to drain the bile from the liver.

Air pollution and certain occupations, such as coal mining, may also play a part, but it is rare for a non-smoker to develop COPD.

The best way to keep it healthy is to try to maintain this shape as much as possible.

And wide-scale trials testing the safety and efficacy of cannabis extracts are currently underway in the UK and elsewhere.

They can be added to a bath, massaged through the skin, inhaled directly, used with teas, or scented in a room.

Control of an epidemic is difficult in a community unless clean water supplies can be restored.

How can it be treated?

There are three centres which the CLDF considers expert in performing Kasai operations: Birmingham Children's Hospital, King's College Hospital in London and St James' Hospital in Leeds.

There is a risk of infection.

How is autism diagnosed?

If you do have a bad back probably the worst thing you can do is take to your bed.

Most forms of cataract develop in adult life.

How is the back made up?

How do humans catch bird flu?

Cannabis analogues have been shown to prevent seizures in epileptic patients when given in combination with prescription drugs.

This new lens will remain in the eye for good and should correct the eyesight.

The first step, known as Phase I, is to check that the treatment is safe.

The sight becomes blurred or misty.

If this fails, they will require a liver transplant.

The top layer may later peel off but the skin beneath is healthy.

This is normally due to damage caused around the time of birth.

Environmental factors, such as contact with certain chemicals including solvents, pesticides, oil products and rubber, can increase the risk.

This involves using a loop of bowel to form a duct to drain the bile from the liver.

As the lungs become more damaged, too little oxygen gets into the bloodstream and this leads to other health problems such as heart failure.

Each aromatic oil, extracted from different parts of plants, is thought to have unique therapeutic properties.

Once the damage is done to the lungs it cannot be reversed.

Air pollution and certain occupations, such as coal mining, may also play a part, but it is rare for a non-smoker to develop COPD.

How is the condition diagnosed?

It can be the only intervention needed, but its success can depend on the location of the tumour and

Migratory wildfowl, notably wild ducks, are natural carriers of the viruses, but are unlikely to actually develop an infection.

How can you minimise the risk?

However, people with autism do tend to exhibit tell-tale behavioural signs.

Once this is done, people with coeliac disease find that their symptoms quickly disappear and that they are able to lead an active and healthy life without any problems.

Treating the condition - or rather alleviating these severe effects, requires only simple measures.

If you do have a bad back probably the worst thing you can do is take to your bed.

In addition, colour vision may become faded or washed out.

Biliary atresia is caused when the bile duct to the liver becomes inflamed.

The child will develop jaundice.

Biliary atresia is caused when the bile duct to the liver becomes inflamed.

This condition causes an itchy, blistering skin eruption affecting the knees, elbows, buttocks and back.

A blood test can now help doctors to tell if somebody is likely to have the condition.

Once a drug has been through all of these stages of testing, with

In COPD, the lung airways are damaged and narrowed, which makes it harder for air to get in and out.

How is the condition diagnosed?

These checks are to ensure that the trial design is sound and that the research will respect the rights, dignity, safety and well being of the participants.

Phase III trials involve many more patients with the illness, often several thousands.

Generally, normal activities, including going back to work, can be resumed a week after the surgery.

Most forms of cataract develop in adult life.

If you do have a bad back probably the worst thing you can do is take to your bed.

Systems for hygienic disposal of human wastes also need to be brought in.

However, some of the deeper skin is left undamaged.

Handwashing after going to the toilet is a vital measure to prevent the spread of the disease.

They can be added to a bath, massaged through the skin, inhaled directly, used with teas, or scented in a room.

Environmental factors, such as contact with certain chemicals including solvents, pesticides, oil products and rubber, can increase the risk.

In fact, many commercially produced pharmaceutical products are derived from herbs, but herbal medicine uses the whole plant rather than an extract.

As a result it inevitably suffers more wear and tear.

The only people who have developed symptoms are poultry workers, mainly in south-east Asia, who have come into intimate contact with infected birds.

It causes severe diarrhoea and vomiting, and patients, particularly children and the elderly, are vulnerable to dangerous dehydration as a result.

It may also help relieve the pain of menstrual cramps and childbirth.

Bronchodilator medications, usually given via an inhaler, help open up the airways and make it easier for the person to breathe.

This condition causes an itchy, blistering skin eruption affecting the knees, elbows, buttocks and back.