

GET IN ON THE YOUTUBE OF CHINA NOW!

Date: Monday, August 20, 2007
Company: China YouTV Corp.
Symbol: CYTV
Price: $0.45

China YouTV's CnBoo Web Site Ranks No.1 on Google.com!

BEIJING, CHINA, Aug 17, 2007 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX) -- China YouTV Corp. (OTCBB: CYTV), a publicly traded company that provides online video sharing services through its CnBoo web site in China, reported that CnBoo.com is currently ranked No.1 among all online video companies in China based on the world wide leading Internet search engine Google.com.

Google is a top web searching engine in all major global markets, offering targeted search results from more than 8 billion web pages. Today, Google.com has become the World's top one searching engine which offers search results in more than 35 languages and attracts an audience of more than 380 million people worldwide.

Coming on the heels of ranking No.1 on Microsoft Live Search Engine and No.7 on BaiDu (China's largest search engine), CnBoo is very proud to see its website now placing top position on all major searching engine websites in China.

According to the recent survey from IResearch, the audiences of online video website reach 86.72 million and account for 85.7% of total netizens in China by June 2007. Meanwhile, approximately 300 online video companies are sharing US$80 million market nowadays. Moreover, it predicts that the users of online sharing service will be 180 million with the market size of US$485 million by 2010 in China.

"All the revealed data made the ranking meaningful," said Mr. James Wei, the President of the Company. "Video sharing has a huge market in China. By the ranking, we are very pleased to see 'CnBoo' becomes comparatively popular website among the other companies in the same field. We believe we have the ideal formula to further our ambitions of becoming a leading online video sharing website in the industry."

About China YouTV Corporation:

The Company signed a Definitive Agreement with HuaJu to set up a Joint Venture in China on March 16, 2007. According to the Agreement, the China YouTV Corp. owns 51% of the joint venture company and will provide the required working capital for the Joint Venture. HuaJu will be in charge of the daily operation of the Joint Venture. HuaJu has agreed to conduct its video sharing business only through the Joint Venture, and has agreed to contribute its web site, www.CnBoo.com and customer contracts to the Joint Venture www.CnBoo.com ("CnBoo") is the online video site belonging to the Joint Venture established by China YouTV Corp. and HuaJu. It is a video viewing site and social networking site that allows users to create their own profiles, post videos, and comment on each other's posts. The CnBoo web site is similar to YouTube (www.YouTube.com), the No. 1 online video site in operation. Within less than 2 years, CnBoo already has over 1.2 million members and over 2 million pieces of original digital video (DV) shorts.

To increase membership and CnBoo's brand name awareness, HuaJu has worked both on-line and off-line:

On-line: HuaJu has signed several agreements to enhance its on-line contents, such as an agreement for CCTV's TV program "Exploring High and Low", an agreement with ManGoCity, a travel company, an agreement with Megadia to host Humor channel on CnBoo web site, and the recently signed agreement with Music Nation and VVsky to add more music on its web site.

Off-line: HuaJu has signed several agreements to promote its 3G space cards, such as the agreement with Gome Electrical Appliances Holding Ltd., the largest chain store operator of electrical appliances in China to distribute its 3G digital space cards to Gome customers; an agreement with HURRAY, a NASDAQ listed company, for the launch of 3G experience terminals in Gome's stores; an agreement with ManGoCity, and a promotion agreement with Z-Card. HuaJu also got exclusive right from AIDS Prevention Education Project for Chinese Youth to negotiate with investors to install LED displays in the colleges and universities across China. All LEDs will have HuaJu and CnBoo's logo on it.

The Company has shown increasing popularity as its CnBoo web sites had been ranked No.1 on Microsoft Live, No.7 on BaiDu, No.11 on Yahoo China and No.12 on Google China when searching for keywords: on-line video and on-line video sharing web sites.

The Company has changed its name to China YouTV this year to reflect its new business operations: the fast growing video sharing web site market in China.

YouTube.com opened in November of 2006, it is one of the most viewed websites in the world. Its market influence has partnered it with the world's largest media corporations. Google purchased it for over $1.6 Billion. Chboo.com is well on the way down the same road. This is a chance to get ahead, with a proven method of success.

Read the news, move fast on CYTV First thing Monday, August 20, 2007!

However much one might legally wish an unfortunate death upon these public figures, no mention is to be made of how this happy state of affairs might be achieved forthwith.

But the presentation of all points of view is more easily said than done, and is not necessarily advisable.

'They came and said the people running Zimbabwe were bad men, but it seemed to us they were just whinging because this Mugubby fellow is more competitive and effective than his rivals.

Then in the evening news comments from two or three politicians and maybe an expert are generally included in a story lasting up to two-and-a-half minutes.

org or use this convenient email form

Bush to the presidency, any conscientious human could sleep at night. In this regard it is antagonistic not to particular power interests but to the interests of the powerful in general.

Jamelot Sample a selection from the populist and libertarian new CD Jamelot, assorted flame

The answer appears to lie in inaccessible fine print of the sedition bill, or perhaps in the fine print of a future amendment to it, as yet unimplemented but likely retrospective when enacted.

The first is that, to paraphrase Orwell, looking from Opposition to Government, to lobbyist, we can scarcely tell any more which is which.

'They came and said the people running Zimbabwe were bad men, but it seemed to us they were just whinging because this Mugubby fellow is more competitive and effective than his rivals.

In which case, how can it be said to be seditious to call for support for Iran within Australia?

' But Federal Health Minister and Howard confidante Tony

Meanwhile, a kind of lip service is maintained to the facade of balance so essential to a democratic facade of long tradition.

Australia is nominally a liberal democracy of the Westminster tradition.

For Hockey, Gillard may be a swan, a delectable morsel, a daunting, unattainable, delicious and tantalising femme fatale.

'Howard is sweating, no question,' opined Parliament cafe attendant Donna Worrall.

Zemanek 'bludges' in final days Radio talk-back host Stan Zemanek has been described as being in a 'malingering and slacking' condition as he wilts before the onset of a brain tumor.

But the truth is nobody is more interested in bringing the pleasant luxuries of the West to impoverished humans in disadvantaged corners of the planet than the goodly executives of Coke.

Among them - perhaps the most vital foreign policy question - for the West and for the people of Iraq - ou est Tintin?

The fortress 'encourages the mistreatment of the people in times of peace', with the effect of gradually enraging the citizenry and providing the powers that be with a false sense of security.

Or whether, after having a hand in the elevation of George W.

Among them - perhaps the most vital foreign policy question - for the West and for the people of Iraq - ou est Tintin?

Perhaps in the circles he moves Gillard is considered less a powerful politician and more a scrumptious bit.

But a cosy complacency prevents the development of any fledgling concern for the future of the Australian nation into a serious articulation in public debate of what may lie ahead.

The monarchic tradition is one awkward flaw in the status of a legitimate, independent Australia.

Meanwhile other men in ties explain why work hours are longer, food more expensive, sleep more difficult to come by, children abandoned to child-care, houses too costly.

But if the Executive were sufficiently troubled by this spectre of uncertainty in the future of Australian politics, the policy would not have been announced.

The answer appears to lie in inaccessible fine print of the sedition bill, or perhaps in the fine print of a future amendment to it, as yet unimplemented but likely retrospective when enacted.

Rove is expected to direct future Republican Presidential campaigns in a t-shirt from the comfort of home during his declining years, until his neck-rolls entirely engulf his turtle-like form.

'Howard is sweating, no question,' opined Parliament cafe attendant Donna Worrall.

Balance is presented as another worthy aspiration for those preparing the events of the day for the consumption of the citizenry.

'This isn't like Iraq where we could just knock up a dossier proving the regime has, say, a nuclear weapons program.

But there is little doubt that Hockey is by far the cuter and cuddlier of the two.

This is not to suggest the importance of powerful individuals and lobby groups within and without the institutions of Government should be discounted, or set aside, or unheard.

Keysar Trad, a spokesman for the mufti, has already pointed out that Australia has relations with Iran.

Hockey is rotund, while Gillard is gaunt and towering.

Hostilities planned by the United States, and in which Australia will likely participate, have not yet begun.

Balance is presented as another worthy aspiration for those preparing the events of the day for the consumption of the citizenry.

Another possible problem with balance is that it's not an easy task to put all points of view equally.

Beyond the acknowledged and unacknowledged filters that limit who is heard and how often, the idea of balance is rendered irrational by the refusal of media outlets to let all perspectives be heard.

Whether the Government is conscious of the danger inherent in the review of Senate procedure, or proceeding carelessly to remove an inconvenience to itself, the threat is the same.

It might be a stretch to describe either the Minister or his Shadow as 'pretty'.