

College: Making It Happen Workshops

Sponsored by the California Education Round Table Intersegmental Coordinating Committee

FREE Registration * * * Complimentary Continental Breakfast and Lunch

You are cordially invited to be our guest at a College: Making It Happen Workshop in your area and are strongly urged to bring additional staff members. At the workshop, you will learn skills to ensure that your College: Making It Happen Events are as productive as possible. We have invited middle school and student services staff who have taken the lead in coordinating these events over the last nine years to share their experiences in conducting exemplary events. College: Making It Happen materials will be available at the training sessions. Additionally, presentations will be given on ScholarShare — the state's college savings plan — and CaliforniaColleges.edu — the common electronic portal to higher education in the state.

Because we are anxious that as many local arrangers and staff from the various educational sectors can attend a session, we have scheduled identical sessions — from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. — in three locations across the state. Additional information about the individual locations will be sent after you register.

December 6, 2010 - The Hacienda, Santa Ana
December 7, 2010 - R.T. Fisher and Associates, Oakland
December 13, 2010 - University of California Center, Fresno

To register go directly to the ICC web site — www.certicc.org — and, click on College: Making It Happen.

We request that you register for these workshops by November 30, 2010.
