The Congress is currently operating under a continuing resolution (CR) until March 4, 2011, which funds most federal programs at the fiscal year 2010 level but includes $5.7 billion to cover the shortfall in the Federal Pell Grants program. On February 11, 2011, the House Committee on Appropriations introduced a Continuing Resolution (H.R. 1) to fund the federal government for the last seven months of the fiscal year. H.R. 1 contains deep funding cuts to non-security discretionary spending. (Discretionary spending is subject to the annual appropriations process. Non-security spending excludes defense, veterans programs, and homeland security). Federal education-related programs fall under this category. Funding for programs administered by the U.S. Department of Education would be cut by almost $10.6 billion, or 15.3 percent, in fiscal year 2011 below the current CR, affecting millions of students and leading to potentially significant job losses for teachers and other school employees.

*Refer to the accompanying state charts for more complete descriptions of the impact by program.  HHS = U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. For more information, contact Tom Zembar at 202.822.7109 or TZembar@nea.org. As of February 11, 2011.

The Congress is currently operating under a continuing resolution (CR) until March 4, 2011, which funds most federal programs at the fiscal year 2010 level but includes $5.7 billion to cover the shortfall in the Federal Pell Grants program. On February 11, 2011, the House Committee on Appropriations introduced a Continuing Resolution (H.R. 1) to fund the federal government for the last seven months of the fiscal year. H.R. 1 contains deep funding cuts to non-security discretionary spending. (Discretionary spending is subject to the annual appropriations process. Non-security spending excludes defense, veterans programs, and homeland security). Federal education-related programs fall under this category. Funding for programs administered by the U.S. Department of Education would be cut by almost $10.6 billion, or 15.3 percent, in fiscal year 2011 below the current CR, affecting millions of students and leading to potentially significant job losses for teachers and other school employees.

Funding for Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants would be terminated in fiscal year 2011, which would eliminate federal financial aid for more than 1.3 million college students.

Funding for Head Start would be cut by $1.083 billion in fiscal year 2011 from current levels, which would eliminate almost 128,000 enrollment slots for low-income children; and could lead to almost 14,600 job losses.
